GeoBI Initiative Wiki

Welcome to the GeoBI Initiative wiki! This wiki contains documentation and information for all the ones that are interested in Location Intelligence.

GeoBI initiative is an ecosystem composed by different actors sharing a set of base principles that cooperate in order to reach the common purpose of making Location Intelligence adoption pervasive. More in detail the initiative has been set up with the following main objectives in mind:

- improve the coordination work in the Location Intelligence area
- disseminate BI knowledge in the GIS world and vice-versa
- promote the standard-based integration between BI and Geographical Systems
- strengthen connections and support new business opportunities among members
- create a research network on Location Intelligence topics
- turn research results into innovative applications.

The complete list of members, together with the motivations of their participation in the Initiative, is available here.

Before to digg into the wiki: if you are unfamiliar with open source and/or location intelligence, the following articles can be a good place to start ...
